Subject: Irradiation of foods

Dear FDA---

In an era when full disclosure is required of every business and product it is nothing short of amazing that you plan to HIDE the fact that certain foods will be (are) irradiated. That you will not even allow the public to be informed at the point of purchase raises serious questions as to what FDA is all about. Taken together with your well known opposition to alternative medicines, herbs, homeopathy, etc. FDA's motives are highly questionable.

Your job should be to inform the public of the facts and let us make our own decisions.

I would appreciate a response.
